The Interstate Commerce Commission Learns Something Important.

Cuicago, March 13.-At last night's hearing before Interstate Commerce Commissioners Morrison and Veazey Chairman Midgely of the southwestern division of the Western freight association was on the stand. He said through rates on grain from Missouri river points to Chicago and New York were reasonable and were lower than ever before. The rate sheets were arranged to make the through rate by way of St. Louis about equal to the through rate by way of concerning the chesp rate via Minnespoli to tidewater points and from Minneapolis to Chicago Commissioner Morrison asked why the price for shipping corn 400 miles, from Minneapolis to Chicago, is 7½ cents a hundred, while from Missouri river points, 500 miles from Chicago, it is 20 cents a hundred.

"The rate from Minneappolis to Chicago is cheaper than the other in proportion," an-swered Chairman Midgely, "because the com-petition by way of the Soo route must be "The Soo route is a water route. Why do the rates continue to be low in the winter months, when the lakes are frozen over?"

Mr. Midgeley gave it as his opinion that the rates would be lower from St. Paul and Minneapolis and Chicago than from points at nearly an equal distance on the Missouri river as long as the Canadian lines came in direct competi-

THE FLOODS INCREASE. All the Streams Are Overflowing Their Banks and Doing Damage.

St. Louis, March 13.-Reports from points on the Missouri and Mississippi above here show the rivers to be rising. Telegrams from the interior show all the smaller streams to be very high and the lowlands in the vicinity of creeks and rivers to be under water. A dispatch from Simpson, Ill., says: All streams from Carbondale to Paducah, Ky., are miles and miles out of their banks. Crab Orchard creek above here is eight miles wide, while big bay covers a territory hardly short of ten miles wide. Four trains are water-bound here and cannot turn a wheel until the waters subside and all bridges are fixed. The loss to the railroad company and farmers will be thousands of dollars. The Ohio below here and near Metropolis is on a wild tear. A dispatch from Vienus, Ill., says that a number of families in the eastern part of that town have vacated their homes, while fences and a vast amount of umber have floated away. A Burlington, Iowa, dispatch says that the lowlands in various por-tions of Illinois, Iowa and Missouri are over-

HAGERSTOWN, March 18.—Neither of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal receivers recently appointed by the circuit court for Washington county or any person representing them are in Hagerstown at present. Consequently the remored offer from Anuspolis to restore the canal cannot be verified or denied. The receivers have, however, divided the line of the canal into three sections, over one of which a receiver will have special supervision. The first division, under Mr. Johnson, extends from Cumberland to dam No. 6; the second, under Mr. Bridges, from dam N. 6 to dam No. 4, and the third, under Mr. Baker, from dam No. 4 to the District of Columbia. Each receiver will appoint a superintendent of his division. This Mr. Bridges has already done in the person of John W. Burgess of Hancock this county, who has already entered upon the duty of gathering up and taking an inventory of the movable property in his division.

ROUGH ON STOCK. The Cold Weather and Snow Begins to Tell on Cattle.

CHICAGO, March 13.-A dispatch from For McLeod, N.W.T., says: The cattle on the ranges are beginning to feel the effect of the cold weather. In the McLeod district there is as yet no cause for apprehension, and on the north side of the river as far as New Oxley cattle are doing fairly well. It it reported that calves up toward the Porcupine hills are dying pretty fast. The worst stories, however, come from north of New Oxley, on the Red Deer river, about the northern limit of the country, where cattle are being run on the range. The situation is said to be very alarming and a repetition of the disasters of the winter of 1882-3, when thousands of the Cochrane ranche cattle succumbed, is almost a certainty. There are two feet of snow from New Oxley north, with two separate and heavy crusts. Cattle cannot get to the grass and are dying fast. Information from reliable sources is that the loss in the country from Mosquito creek to Red Deer river will be very heavy, some estimating

Why They Oppose the Bennett Law. MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 13 .- The full text of the protest by the three Catholic bishops of Wisconsin—Heiss, Flasch and Catzer—against the Bennett school law was made public yesterday. The gist of the long document issued by the bishops is that the law goes so far as to leave it to the decision of the state school board as to whether any school is to be regarded as having legal existence or not. The bishops say: "We have, indeed, nothing against the demand that reading, writing, arithmetic and United States history be taught in the English language, but we do object to the power granted by this provision to school boards to decide whether our schools have a right to exist before the law," "The bishops explain that they cannot but apprehend that the ultimate intention is to gradually destroy the parochial system altogether. They add: "We have never received one single cent of state Wisconsin-Heiss, Flasch and Catzer-against have never received one single cent of state help for our schools; we want no state inter-ference with them, either."

it at 75 per cent.

From Wall Street Today. New York, March 13 .- The stock market pened this morning extremely active, excited and strong. There was a rush to buy which, with the continuing anxiety of operators on the short side to cover their contracts, made first prices generally from 1 to ½ per cent better than the closing figures of last evening, while Quincy was up 1½ at 108½ and Rhode Island 1 per cent at 95. There was some disappointment over the failure of London to respond to the rise of spond to the rise of last evening more fully and while the bidding for stock was very urgent the most strength was among the active stocks, and Southern Pacific in the low-priced ones rising % and ½ per cent, respectively, while in the decline they lost only a fraction. Rock Island reacted to 94, Quincy to 107½ and Oregon Transcontinental from 37½ to 36%. The market became quieter toward the end of the hour and prices showed a firmer front. The weakest stock on the list was Louisville, New Albany and Chicago, which dropped from New Albany and Chicago, which dropped from 49% to 47, while the Consolidated bonds retired from 102% to 100. The grangers naturally led the market in activity, but Missouri Pacific and Louisville, Reading and New England were not far behind, while the activity reached all portions of the list. At 11 o'clock the market was fairly active and steady to firm, generally at small fractions under the opening

They Criticize the Czar. LONDON, March 18 .- The czar of Russia is very unpleasantly reflected upon by the continental journals for the persecution of the Princess Dolgoroki, the morganatic wife of his late father. One of his first acts on ascending the father. One of his first acts on ascending the throne was to exile her and her children and during his lifetime they will never be allowed to return to Russia. Now he has practically confiscated her property in the country by purchasing it at about a quarter of its value, and as meanness in money matters naturally attracts attention when a sovereign is the party to display exceptional parsimony, comments to display exceptional parsimony, comments have been unsparing, particularly in Germany, where the Russian minister has protested against the animadversions.

Bad, if Genuine.

NASHVILLE, TENN., March 18 .- A mysterious malady is prevailing in Jefferson county and many people believe it to be genuine spotted fever. The contagion has broken out in Car-son college and students are leaving. Four deaths have occurred within the last week. There is much excitement for fear the epidemic may become general. The bodies of patients are covered with white and black blotches the size of a silver dollar.

A $100,000 Runaway.

The en-gineers and firemen of both trains jumped and gineers and firemen of both trains jumped and thereby saved their lives. The engines were both badly wrecked. The cars of the east train were started back down grade by the shock and soon acquired a speed of eighteen or twenty miles an hour and about forty rods from the depot ran into a second east-bound train. Twenty-one cars and three locomotives were completely wrecked by the double collision and the damage will amount to $60,000 or $100,000. or $100,000.

They Got Her Boys Drunk. BONNE TERRE, MINN., March 13.-Mrs. Wm. Rodgers of this place created a stir yesterday by raiding one of the "blind tiger" saloons which have been running here in violation of law. She has two sons. Both are minors. Tuesday night they were enticed to the place and made drunk. The mother learned the facts and inaugurated a crusade. Donning her hat she hastened down to the saloon, and after a brief but interesting interview with the pro-prietor she demolished every window in the place and partially wrecked the interior before she could be persuaded to desist.

He Wanted to be Murdered. HARRISBURG, PA., March 13.—The question whether Lewis Williams was murdered or whether Charles Larabee shot him on his own request is to be passed upon by the court of pardons. Williams was shot through the back of the head in 1874 and two years later Larabee was sentenced to death for the murder, but the was sentenced to death for the murder, but the sentence was afterward commuted to imprisonment for life. The murdered man had threatened to commit suicide on the day he was found dead. The two men went hunting on that day and it is said that Williams begged Larabee to shoot him, fearing that he would go "to hades" if he committed suicide. Williams was a negro and his wife was a shrew who made him long for death.

SOCIAL MATTERS.

Dinner at the White House-Festivities at Senator Hearst's New Home.

The President and Mrs. Harrison entertained a company at disner last evening at the White Home. The table was prettily decorated with baskets of flowers. The guests were Senator and Mrs. Chandler, Mr. and Mrs. Cheney, Mr. John A. Anderson, Senator and Mrs. Speener, Mrs. Studebaker, Senator and Mrs. Frye. Representative and Mrs. Morrow, Mr. and Mrs. Ketcham, Senator and Mrs. Platt and Senator and Mrs. Blodgett.

The event of yesterday in the social world of the capital was the opening of the elegant home of Senator and Mrs. Hearst to their friends. Half of the first floor is still in the hands of the workmen, but there were more than ample spaces prepared for the comfort-able accommodation of the small company in-vited for the afternoon musicale. In the eve-ning another small company was asked for a dance. The rooms opened yesterday were the music room, upon the artistic finish of which music room, upon the artistic finish of which Mrs. Hearst was complimented by every one; the dining room and the large supper room that is beneath the music room and occupies the same space. This room, ceiled in California red wood and floored in oaken squares, is expected to solve the difficult problem in this city of the unmanageable erush at supper tables. The wood work of the music room is in a delicate olive green lined with gold and red. A heavy brocade covers the walls, over which are hung superb pieces of Gobelin and Aubusson tapestry, the former showing a design after the old Flemish remainsance and the latter being a pretty picture of Cupids. The remaining spaces are hung with art treasures collected in many lands. Miss Georgine Campbell's portrait of Senator Miss Georgine Campbell's portrait of Senator Hearst is hung over the first landing of the beautiful staircase. The dining room is after the Dutch school of decoration and is in heavy dark oak.

Mrs. Hearst received her guests in the after noon in a handsome high necked, long sleeved toilet of pale green brocade, with a front of green satin and a vest of white mousseline de soie. The guests of the house, Miss Florence Bayard, who was in black net; Miss Hillyer of California, in white India silk, and Miss Biddle, in white lace, were present to greet their friends. The music was provided by the Misses Ferrar and their brother of California, who are here for a brief visit. They made charming music upon the guitar, mandolin and violin. Among those present were ex-Gov. and Mrs. Carroll, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kearney Warren, Gen. and Mrs. Greely, Mrs. Field, Mrs. Blatchford Mrs. B. C. Cummings, Mrs. McMillan, Mrs. Dolph. The third of Mrs. Dahlgren's series of authors' readings brought together a large and congenial gathering of friends at her hospitable home on Massachusetts avenue last evening. The first to entertain the company was Prof. Langley, who gave a pleasant account of the purposes and progress of psychical research in England, followed by Miss Clarke, who gave in England, followed by Miss Clarke, who gave a most graceful and charming recitation of a pretty poetical composition of her own. Miss Olive Risley Seward then read a highly interesting paper on "Pilgrimages and Shrines," in which she graphically described experiences and observations in the holy land, with special references to Bethany and the Mount of Olives, and paid an eloquent tribute to the ennobling and refining influences of women, illustrating her idea in part by the sacrificing efforts in her her idea in part by the sacrificing efforts in behalf of Christendum in Palestine made by the Empress Helena and the Princess Latour d'Auvergne. Mr. Stephens followed Miss Seward, reading an extract from a blank verse version by himself of one of the Arthurian legends, after which refreshments were served, and the after which refreshments were served, and the evening was given up to social intercourse. POLICE COURT LAWYERS. How Some of Them Manage to Secure Clients.

"I won't hurt my throat this morning calling collateral cases," said Bailiff Hooe in the Police Court today when he discovered that only two of the persons charged with violations of the law had been able to secure the loan of a "V" each and deposit it as a guarantee that they would be in court for trial. In the dock were thirty-one persons who had to answer as many charges. Although there was not much "boodle" in the crowd lawyers were plentiful, and even before the court opened were standing about the dock waiting for clients. Many persons who entered the court were accosted by one of the waiting lawyers with the jocular remark: "Good morning my man, you don't come here often?" or the sympathizing query: got and often the lawyer receives as much as 50 cents as a fee. Of course some fees are larger, while there are occasionally even smaller

There is another sight witnessed about the court more than three hundred days in a year, and sometimes more than once a day. It is that of a crowd of lawyers, loafers and others who sit on the railings around the steps and watch the unfortunate persons on their way from the "Black Maria" to the dark holes beneath the court building. The lawyers are prohibited by a rule of the court from calling to the prisoners: "Do you want to see me? and so they have to depend upon the prisoner calling to them: "Mr. _____, I want to see

ELEVEN MONTHS IN JAIL. A Negro Sentenced by Judge Miller fo

Resisting an Officer. In the Criminal Court, Chief Justice Bingham, this morning George Reed, colored, was placed on trial for using personal violence on a policeman, Mr. T. C. Taylor for the defendant. Officer Paul Kirster testified that on the 31st of January about 11:45 o'clock at night he arrested Reed for vagrancy and also because he knew of a warrant being out for him for assault with intent to kill; that witness was in citizen clothes but showed his badge; that Reed re-sisted and fought him and at one time got on witness and gave him a kick, from the effectd of which he was laid up for seventeen days ans still suffers, and it was not until he blew the distress call and officers come to his assistance that Reed was subdued. The officer testified also that he had been looking for Reed for five months to arrest him for the intent to kill case. The defendant denied that he had resisted the officer except to ward off his blows, which he tried to inflict with, the butt of his pistol. He denied that he knew the man was an officer and says that after he was pulled out of the store he was struck with the pistol. On cross-examination Reed admitted that he had served two terms in jail and had been several times in the work house.

Mr. Taylor claimed that the prisoner had the right to resist the arrest, he demanding that right to resist the arrest, he demanding that the warrant be produced.

Mr. Lipscomb claimed that an officer had the right to arrest for vagrancy without warrant.

The court instructed the jury that a vagnant may be arrested without warrant, but it was at his (the officer's) risk. He should, however, know that the party was a vagrant. They had heard the testimony and should determine if the defendant was a vagrant—an idle, dissolute person, &c.—and that the officer knew it; if so the officer was instifled in making the server. person, &c.—and that the officer knew it; if so the officer was justified in making the arrest without warrant. If they found the defendant was not a vagrant and the officer used more force than necessary they should acquit.

The jury found a verdict of guilty as indicted.

Reed asked that the court be merciful to him, stating that he did not know who the man was at the time and if he had he would not be here now.

The court imposed a sentence of elever
